Letter From the Executive Director

WELCOME TO THE FALL 2024 EDITION OF SONIC NEWS!

We are excited to have you on board as we share exciting updates, interesting features, industry insights, and a jam packed fall schedule of events and activities! We are also very excited to share that our new interactive website (idhhc.ca) will launch in late August, so you won't miss getting more information about everything IDHHC!

We hope this edition will spark your curiosity to join a workshop, take a class, or learn something new about our services to gain a deeper understanding of our mission, values, and the difference we strive to make in the lives of those we serve.

Our goal is to inspire and provide you with a connection to our cause and a sense of the community that unites us all. Your feedback and engagement are not only welcome but important to us, so if you have any questions, thoughts, or ideas to share, please feel free to reach out to us at idhhc@idhhc.ca or 250.592.8144.

Wishing you a great reading experience!

IDHHC FALL PROGRAM GUIDE

Check out the amazing programming from IDHHC Victoria and Nanaimo

IDHHC ACKNOWLEDGES:

Our offices are situated on the traditional territory of the Coast Salish, Nuuchahnulth, and Kwakwaka'wakw peoples whose historical relationships with the land continue to this day.

We are grateful for their stewardship and preservation of the land where we live, work, and provide service to a diverse client base.

News From the Inside

WELCOME TO OUR NEW TEAMMATES!

At IDHHC our people are our success and we are excited to welcome three new amazing members to our team.

Zahra Bhaijee,
Booking Coordinator

Zahra Bhaijee joined us in April 2024 and brings her amazing communication skills to the role of booking coordinator with the Interpreting Services program. Her role with us is to help ensure that Deaf and hard of hearing clients have access to ASL interpreters and captions for meetings, event and activities. Zahra has been involved with various organizations over the years, showing her dedication to accessibility and to education.

Patrick McCann, Audiologist

Patrick McCann earned his master's degree in audiology from Dalhousie University in Halifax, in 2016.

He has since worked in the Qikiqtaaluk (Baffin) region of Nunavut. Based in Iqaluit, he also had the opportunity to fly to hamlets across the region for travel clinics. Following his time in Nunavut, he served as an audiologist for the Government of Yukon in Whitehorse for four years.

Patrick looks forward to meeting and serving the community at IDHHC.

Jon LePas,
Employment Services

Jon LePas brings a wealth of experience to his role as the newest member of the Employment Services Team at Island Deaf + Hard of Hearing Centre.

With over 29 years of dedicated service in supporting individuals with developmental disabilities to access technical resources and integrate into their communities, Jon is deeply passionate about helping people.

Jon completed 3 years of VISTA ASL, and having a culturally Deaf family member, he brings a strong understanding of Deaf culture to his role.

Volunteer Spotlight MEET SANDRA BONDE-THORPE

Sandi has been a long-term supporter of IDHHC and advocate for services for the Deaf Community throughout mid Vancouver Island. She has also been a volunteer since long before she moved to the Island. "There was a Deaf club there that I helped with, as well as Girl Guides when my daughters were young, volunteered in their classrooms, Candy Strippers coordinator for Royal Inland Hospital etc.."

She has deep roots and extensive networks on the Island and was always ready to collaborate and to build relationships between Deaf and hard of hearing adults and IDHHC. Her involvement with IDHHC began when the Nanaimo branch office opened in 1992. Over the years Sandi has volunteered in the office and for countless agency events. When Sandi was asked why she has given her time so generously to organizations such as IDHHC, she responded with:

"I'm always willing to help out where and when I can. I believe that volunteering is a great way to give back to the community and many organizations wouldn't survive without their volunteers."

This year IDHHC has appointed Sandra as our Honorary Lifetime Member for 2024.

Sound of Change- The Latest News

MILESTONES IN A UNIQUE INITIATIVE

Eight years later, and the Sound of Change (SoC) Initiative is going stronger than ever, and we are both proud and excited by that! In April of 2016, with 20 participants, IDHHC launched SoC to test the idea of supporting low-income individuals in our community. In the first four years, 445 people received 800 free refurbished hearing aids and we have had consistent growth ever since. This past June, our Victoria office fit a record 40 hearing aids in one month! With over 1000 clients seen, 400 returning clients, and over 2100 free refurbished hearing aids, we have given away retail value of almost $6 million dollars!

Since the very beginning, we have received amazing community support from those who have donated funds, hearing aids, and technology to be refurbished. We cannot thank you enough for supporting this amazing initiative that has improved the quality of life for so many in our community. We hope you will continue to support and share this opportunity with anyone you think might benefit.

EDUCATION- INSIDE AND OUT

HHS Updates:

As always, the HHS team is focused on education. We strive to educate ourselves to provide the best evidence-based care we can and to share our knowledge with you to become better advocates for your own hearing health.

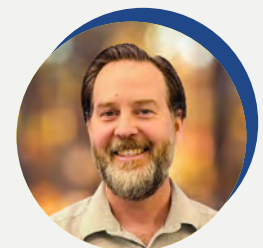

+ Educating ourselves: our audiologists travelled to Vancouver to attend the SAC conference in May, and the ACIA conference with the St. Paul's CI team in July.

+ Educating the public: we presented webinars on hearing aid care and Bluetooth technology, hosted experts in the field of tinnitus and cochlear implants and expanded the Speech Reading program to offer classes throughout the island. Our tech guru, Kelsey, is busier than ever providing one-on-one tutoring with all things tech.

Team Updates:

+ Audiologist, Patrick McCann, joined the Victoria team in April and is settling into his new role.

+ We wish IDHHC Nanaimo's Audiologist, Carmen Sarich, luck as she leaves to begin medical school training in August.

International Day of Sign Language

Honoring Diversity, Identity + Rights

International Day of Sign Languages is celebrated on September 23rd every year. This date was first recognized in 2017 by the United Nations General Assembly because it marks the anniversary of the establishment of The World Federation of the Deaf (WFD) in 1951. The date was chosen to recognize and celebrate the importance of sign languages in achieving the full realization of human rights for Deaf people and is part of broader efforts to promote and protect the linguistic identity and cultural diversity of all Deaf people and other sign language users. The main goals of International Day of Sign Languages are:

1. Promote Sign Languages

Encourage the use of sign languages in both public and private life.

2. Raise Awareness

Increase public awareness of the issues faced by Deaf people everywhere.

3. Human Rights Advocacy

Promote the human rights of Deaf people and advocate for equal access to education, employment, and public services.

4. Celebration of Linguistic Diversity

Celebrate the unique cultural and linguistic identity of Deaf communities.

IDHHC Communication
Services Manager

WHAT ARE DEAF INDIVIDUALS SAYING?

Why is the Sept 23 International Day of Sign Language, important?

By Vinu Chetipurackal

The International Day of Sign Languages on September 23rd is very important for recognizing the significance of sign languages and promoting the linguistic identity and cultural diversity of Deaf, DeafBlind and Hard of Hearing people worldwide. It emphasizes the need for inclusion, equality, and the recognition of sign languages as fundamental human rights.

By Sheila Kay Ferguson

I think it's very important because we as Deaf people have a right to be seen and treated as equals not less than. We have rights across all areas of life, including EQUAL opportunity and ACCESSIBILITY!!!!

By James Warwick Sr.

International Day of Sign Language celebrates and shows the world that sign language is important and it is how we as Deaf people communicate. It confirms for parents with Deaf children that sign language is an important communication tool. Adult Deaf role models are crucial for younger deaf children.

What does this year's theme "Sign up for Sign Language Rights" mean to you?

By Susanne Harnden

Valuing and recognizing sign language connects the Deaf community with the wider society by breaking down barriers and creating a more inclusive and engaged community. We rely on visual communication, our group identity where we can share common experiences. Having a shared language allows us to bond, to love and to trust.

By Christine Ehrlich-Brady

More and more hearing people are taking sign language classes which means that more people can sign with us. WFD have on their website information on the Declaration on the Rights of Deaf Children which outlines that early access to sign language for children is so important for their learning. Don't be afraid to have your child learn sign language. Celebrate sign language!

By Vinu Chetipurackal

This year's theme focuses on advocacy, empowerment, awareness, underscores the importance of active participation. It serves as a powerful reminder of the ongoing struggle for recognition and inclusion, inspiring me to advocate for American and Indigenous sign language rights. This ensures that Deaf, DeafBlind and Hard of Hearing individuals can fully participate in society without facing communication barriers.

World Federation of the Deaf is an international organization that represents and advocates for the rights of Deaf people all over the world. To learn more, check out their website at wfdeaf.org Information is also available at cad-asc.ca

Want to stay engaged? Become a member at IDHHC! Take an ASL class, attend a workshop, join an event, + together we can celebrate linguistic diversity!

Employment Services, The Latest Trends

IDHHC HELPS AS LOCAL UNEMPLOYMENT RATES RISE

If you feel as though it is a little harder to find the right job these days, it is not your imagination.

Canada's unemployment rate rose this past season because as technology advances and populations increase, employers can afford to be choosier. The skill of Adaptability is now the skill of the moment. Other soft skills that are also at the top of the list include communication, active listening, customer service, leadership, and creativity.

This season, our workshops will help you gain the skills to adapt, create, and care for others so you can successfully compete for jobs and thrive in increasingly complex jobs. As always, working with one of our Employment Case Managers is a great way to stay motivated and feel supported in your job search.

Case Manager

Do/Don't Get Lost In Interpretation

TIPS FOR GREAT COMMUNICATION

Working effectively with sign language interpreters is essential for facilitating clear communication as both the hearing and Deaf individual require the interpreter's services. Here are some do's and don'ts to keep in mind:

- 1. Do Book Early
Interpreters are in high demand.
 - 2. Do Provide Material In Advance
such as agenda, powerpoint and speaking notes.
 - 3. Do Speak Clearly And Use The 1st Person
"I'm happy to meet with you today".
 - 4. Do Maintain Eye Contact
Maintain eye contact with the Deaf Person.
 - 5. Do Position Properly
Ideally the interpreter faces the Deaf individual and sits/stands beside and slightly behind the hearing person.
- 1. Don't Look At The Interpreter When Talking
Remember who you're talking to.
 - 2. Don't Speak To The Interpreter
Don't speak to the interpreter as a participant in the interaction
 - 3. Don't Speak Too Fast Or Too Slow
Speak at your natural pace
 - 4. Don't Assume That Deaf People Can Lipread
Everyone has different skills; if you don't know, ask.

Books to Get Excited About This Autumn

The Deaf Girl: A Memoir of Hearing Loss, Hope, and Fighting Against the Odds

Abigail Heringer, a fan-favorite from The Bachelor, shares her journey of growing up deaf and feeling like an outsider in both hearing and Deaf communities.

Initially introverted and fearful of her disability defining her, Abigail ultimately embraced her identity with the support of her family, particularly her deaf sister. Her memoir, The Deaf Girl, highlights her transformation into a confident advocate, inspiring others to embrace their differences.

A Loss for Words: The Story of Deafness in a Family

From the time she was a toddler, Lou Ann Walker was the ears and voice for her deaf parents. Their family life was warm and loving, but outside the home, they faced a world that misunderstood and often rejected them.

The Silence Between Us Schneider Family Book Award, Best Teen Honor Book 2020

Contemporary fiction fans will find it hard to put down The Silence Between Us—a YA novel that doesn't shy away from real-life issues including the challenges faced by those in the Deaf culture, relationship struggles, communication problems, and complicated families.

Deaf teen Maya moves across the country and must attend a hearing school for the first time. As Maya looks past graduation and focuses on her future dreams, nothing, not even an unexpected romance, will derail her.

Sound of Friendship

WHY AM I A DONOR WITH IDHHC?

One day, I ran into a friend that I had not seen in a long time. We were colleagues for many years but had somehow lost touch. We were both excited to connect so we exchanged information and agreed to get together. A lunch was arranged but instead of the reunion I expected, our time was cut short when we had to leave the restaurant as my friend couldn't hear in the noisy environment.

As we left the restaurant, she explained that she had a significant hearing loss, was no longer able to work, and did not have money to buy hearing aids. She was notably different than the person I worked with for so many years and she explained how isolated she had become.

Within about 4 months she found IDHHC, the Sound of Change program, and a whole new world opened for her. The change in her was significant and the person I knew from years ago had returned. Who could imagine what impact those little devices could have on someone's quality of life? I became a regular donor to IDHHC to support this life changing program that has amazing value for those that really need it!

An Audiologist Speaker Series In 4 Sessions

All sessions delivered Online with in person viewing space @ IDHHC Victoria or Nanaimo

Register for one or for all four, $10/session [FREE for IDHHC members]

Join us for one or all of the four presentations as we explore the world of hearing health. IDHHC's audiology team as well as experts from around the province will help to educate and provide updated information on important subjects.

Captioning provided for all sessions.

Sonic Perspectives – Session Topics

Session One: Why Is It So Hard To Hear In A Noisy Environment?

Tuesday, September 10th @ 12-1:00pm

Join our webinar with audiologist Dan Paccioretti, who has over 40 years of experience working with clients, conducting research, and teaching. He currently works as a consultant and trainer for Pacific Audiology group providing continuing education for hearing care professionals. Hearing in the presence of background noise is the number one complaint of hearing aid users. Dan will explain why it's so hard to hear in noise, why hearing aids aren't always enough, and what you can do about it.

Session Two: Unlocking the World of Hearing Loss and Hearing Aids

Thursday, October 10th @ 12-1:00pm

Are you curious about the intricate world of hearing health and hearing technology? Join us for an enlightening workshop that delves into the basics of hearing loss and the impact of hearing amplification. Discover how audiologists diagnose and categorize hearing loss and when medical referrals become essential. Explore the variety of hearing aids available and gain insights into what they can achieve. Our audiologists will guide you through the art of an accurate hearing aid fitting, sharing their skill on real ear measurements – a critical step in ensuring optimal hearing aid performance. From understanding what hearing aids can and cannot do, to understanding the essential role they play in enhancing your auditory experience, this workshop will empower you with valuable knowledge for better hearing health.

Session Three: Ted Talk: Assistive Communication Devices

Thursday, November 14th @ 12-1:00pm

Join us for a presentation with Ted Clegg from Assistive Listening Device Systems (ALDS) where Ted will share the latest and greatest in assistive technology and how you can benefit from the many available devices. Ted will be focusing on amplified telephones and home alerting systems. He will also be available to answer any of your questions.

Session Four: Communication Strategies with Hearing Loss

Thursday, December 5th 12-1:00pm

Being able to connect and interact with people is dependent on our ability to communicate. Those with hearing loss struggle with verbal communication and it can be frustrating and isolating. This interactive workshop will focus on improving communication for people with hearing loss by using communication strategies.

“It is refreshing and edifying to have found competent, caring people whose mission is to help others rather than to maximize profits”

Donna Gnam-Taal ★★★★★

“I was so impressed with the quality of service I received when I got my hearing aids. Testing, fitting & follow up; each of these steps was attended to with care. I particularly appreciated the fact that there was no sales pressure. Edward found the most effective hearing aids within my budget. He was so patient in explaining the use & care of them. Ocean was always warm & welcoming at reception & was always able to either answer my question or find someone who could reply in a timely manner. What a great (dog friendly) atmosphere. Big thank you to Edward, Ocean & the IDHHC Team.”
